“QUANTIFYING THE UNQUANTIFIABLE”

The Blackheath Brain Injury Rehabilitation Centre will host its second annual conference “Quantifying the Unquantifiable”. The conference will debate and review the importance of outcome measures in neuro-rehabilitation; Why we need these measures? What are the benefits? And how we introduce them in our working practice. The case studies will demonstrate how outcome measures benefit the patient, clinician, therapist and commissioner.

The conference aims to review the importance of outcome measures through debate, thought provoking exercise and practical case studies.

Key note speakers - Professor Keith Willett
National Clinical Director for Trauma Care NHS Medical Directorate

Professor Lynne Turner-Stokes DM FRCP
Herbert Dunhill Chair of Rehabilitation, King’s College London Director Regional Rehabilitation Unit, Northwick Park Hospital
